Diary of Dorkius Maximus – Tim Collins

Available from BorrowBox – eAudioBook

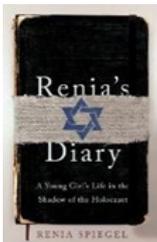

Dorkius Maximus is a young boy growing up in ancient Rome. This hilarious diary recounts his exploits as, desperate to become a great Roman hero, Dorkius enlists the help of his father's friend, Stoutus, to teach him the noble art of fighting. But heroism doesn't come naturally to Dorkius. Plus, his dad doesn't listen to him, his friends pick on him, and his mum is more interested in her sacred chickens. Dorkius knows there's a mighty warrior inside him, just waiting to get out ... isn't there? This book will delight any child who would like to get a taste of life as an ancient geek.

Renia's Diary – Renia Spiegel

Available from BorrowBox – eAudio/eBook

July 15, 1942, Wednesday - Remember this day; remember it well. You will tell generations to come. Since 8 o'clock today we have been shut away in the ghetto. I live here now. The world is separated from me and I'm separated from the world. Renia is a young girl who dreams of becoming a poet. But Renia is Jewish, she lives in Poland and the year is 1939. When Russia and Germany invade her country, Renia's world shatters. Separated from her mother, her life takes on a new urgency as she flees Przemysl to escape night bombing raids, observes the disappearances of other Jewish families and, finally, witnesses the creation of the ghetto.

Adrian's painfully honest diary is still hilarious and compelling thirty-five years after it first appeared.

Blitz Diary: Life Under Fire in the Second World War – Carol Harris

Available from BorrowBox – eBook

Blitz Diary is a remarkable series of accounts from the war's darkest days, with heart-warming stories of survival, perseverance, solidarity and bravery, the preservation of which becomes increasingly important as the Blitz fades from living memory. War with Germany seemed increasingly likely throughout the 1930s. The British Government and the general population believed that bombs and poison gas would be dropped on civilians in major towns and cities with the aim of terrifying them into surrendering. In 1937, preparations to protect the population were hopelessly inadequate, and the British government was far from confident that people would respond in this way.
